Frank S. Page has been President and Chief Executive Officer of the Southern Baptist Convention Executive Committee since October 1, 2010. He was president of the Southern Baptist Convention from 2006-2008. In his current role, he oversees the convention work of 46,000 plus churches and over 16 million members.

Prior to moving to Nashville, Dr. Page served as Vice President for the Evangelization Group at the North American Mission Board (NAMB), Alpharetta, Georgia. He has also served as pastor for Taylors First Baptist Church, Taylors, South Carolina, and churches in Georgia, Texas, and North Carolina for the past 34 years. Dr. Page's last two churches, Warren Baptist Church and Taylor's First Baptist Church, more than doubled in size and began missions and ministries which truly impacted the region and beyond. Dr. Page has also been an interim pastor since his taking the position in Nashville. He has been interim pastor at First Baptist Church, North Augusta, South Carolina, First Baptist Church of Jackson in Mississippi, and First Baptist Church, Simpsonville, SC. Dr. Page loves churches and loves to help churches regain a God sized vision.

Dr. Page was born in North Carolina and educated at Gardner Webb University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. He is recipient of the Bachelor of Science degree with honors as well as the Master of Divinity and Ph.D. degrees. He is an author and has traveled extensively and spoken on every continent.

Dr. Page is married to the former Dayle Gibson of Huntersville, North Carolina. They have three beautiful daughters and are also blessed to have four grandsons.
